   a. December 1 Faculty Senate Meeting Update
      i. Chancellor Perlman Announcements:
         1. Black Lives Matter event on 11-19-15 was well attended and many suggestions stemmed from discussions among campus leaders and there is a strong commitment to work with the students to address the issues.
         2. Plans are moving forward to have UNL work with a consulting firm in what is termed “Diversity Mapping Exercise”. Harvey mentioned this initiative earlier this fall and now a firm has been identified that will begin intermittent steps prior to actually coming on board in the spring of 2017. UNL will be benchmarked against other Big 10 universities and best practices in the area of diversity among students, staff and faculty.

3. With recent events in Paris and other international cities, UNL has had to look closely at the job we are doing tracking students, staff and faculty that are traveling on university business. Harvey noted that with the events in Paris unfolded, we knew which students were there but did not find out until later that there were at least 2 faculty members there. Beginning Jan 1, 2016, all faculty will be required to file an electronic authorization request (should be doing this already) and purchase their tickets from only Travel & Transport in order to get reimbursed. This will hopefully allow for a tracking system to know who is where and when. In conjunction with this, federal regulations on export control is a hot topic due to the limits it puts on information taken into other countries by faculty and what can and cannot be disclosed. Cited faculty member from a U.S. university being imprisoned for 2 years for information he disclosed.

4. Matt Hecker, Dean of Students, reported on recent activity of the Student Conduct Board with increasing numbers of cases being reported/heard (currently 8 in process). He indicated there is a trend at UNL and other universities of increased numbers of mental health issues, differences in international cultures leading to unacceptable conduct/behavior, and the prevalence of misuse of technology (i.e. plagiarism and paying other students to write papers for classes and in some cases computer code).

5. The senate passed, with almost unanimous vote (2 abstentions), the resolution concerning weapons on campus. It basically states that the UNL faculty senate opposes any legislation that would curtail university authorities to appropriately restrict the presence of weapons on campus and further supports the current UNL policy posted on the UNL Police website.

Permits can be sold back/returned for unused portions; new permit fees are pro-rated.

e. There will be no increase in active employee health insurance premiums this year. This will be 9 out of 10 years that employees will not see an increase.

f. There will be no changes or premium increases to the following benefits programs:
   i. Long Term Disability
   ii. Voluntary and Dependent Life Insurance
   iii. Accidental Death & Dismemberment
   iv. Flexible Spending Accounts (Healthcare or Dependent Care)

   ii. Need to sign up for Healthcare and Dependent Care FSA each year

3. Chancellor’s Commission on the Status of Women (Jenn Rutt): The Chancellor’s Commission on the Status of Women met with Chancellor Perlman in October to discuss items of priority before his Chancellorship is finished. The top priority was healthcare coverage for women. UNL’s current healthcare plan is a “grandfathered” plan that does not need to follow new ACA coverage; thus, many services covered by ACA are not currently covered by UNL’s healthcare plans, including MANY women’s services. The grandfathered system is to prevent cost increases per individual. Chancellor Perlman is not sure how Varner makes the healthcare plan decisions. With a new president, he’s not sure how the process will change. Breast pumps are now covered by insurance. The CCSW is asking how this happened and what else is covered, as the committee previously had been told that if the University adopted any part of the ACA provisions, we had to adopt all of them. An additional point of conversation was Title IX, focusing on the safety/protection of women and students. Title IX requires we address and provide services to pregnant women, help with being successful in class, equal treatment, etc. Child care issues are also addressed by Title IX. IEC should be notified of any parenting/pregnancy issues on campus. Pregnancy is listed in UNL’s non-discrimination statement. Also, UNL has a policy regarding accommodation for pregnancy/birth, but it needs to be audited. Current policies don’t address financial support, only job protection.

4. Safety Committee (Allen Specht): The committee heard the results of a safety audit for the third quarter. Deficiencies include: 1. Lack of emergency shower or eyewash, 2. Power strips being used for microwaves, refrigerators, freezers, coffeepots and other items with heating elements and 3. Equipment and machinery not secured in place. The committee received a list of safety incidents by causal factor that were OSHA recordable—two were due to engineering controls, ten were due to environment, six were due to material or equipment, four were due to personal reasons, five were due to personal protective equipment, and five incidents had causes that could not be identified. A similar report was presented for non-OSHA incidents. In many cases, protocol was not followed. All departments, from Classics and Religious Studies to Campus Rec to Nebraska Unions, were impacted by safety incidents. Fifty-five workers compensation injuries occurred through September 30. Twenty-three were minor, while 32 were OSHA reportable and more serious in nature.

5. Campus Rec Advisory Council (CRAC) (Rene Mayo): Campus Rec is exploring options to replace outdoor facilities that were displaced due to construction. (Lost facilities include the removal of tennis and sand volleyball courts for the construction of a dining hall on city campus and the future loss of tennis courts on east campus for a parking facility near the new dorm.) There is supposed to be a like-for-like replacement when construction displaces facilities; options are being identified and costs finalized.
